Banking History:

Tom has twenty-five plus years of experience in leveraged finance. In 1984, after a successful career at Drexel Burnham Lambert, he became manager and head trader in the derivatives operation of US Bancorp in Portland, Oregon. In 1997, Tom joined Midland Loan Services, Inc. in Kansas City, Missouri, one of the largest master servicers in commercial real estate. At Midland, Tom was head of the capital markets group and was responsible for loan pricing, loan hedging and negotiations with Wall Street firms, in the securitization of the company's loans into large pools of Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities. He is a member of the Financial Managers Society, Heartland Community Bankers Association and the Missouri Bar Association.

As a member of Country Club Bank's financial team, Tom combines his expertise with Country Club Bank's already successful fixed income management and asset/liability management capabilities.
